MEDIA RELEASE

The City of Joburg Property Company (JPC) is investing R10 Million to upgrade the Randburg Home Affairs Parking Lot. The reconstruction of the Parking Lot commenced in July 2015 and completion is anticipated in September 2015.

The refurbishment of the site will maximize the parking space and parking bays will be clearly demarcated. The work in progress also includes the building of the guard house, the installation of security access control point and a fence.

The paving to resurface the parking area is almost 80% complete and the roof trusses, electrical piping, plastering and tiling of the guard house is in progress. The new parking lot will have 135 parking bays upon completion.

JPC would like to thank the patrons of the Home Affairs for their patience. "We are nearing completion of the project and ask that people be patient as we look forward to an upgraded Parking Lot", says Chantal Janneker, Senior Manager: Marketing and Communications.
